Nous facilitons la préservation de l'image de marque.

Notre extension du gamut automatisée sur la presse vous permet de reproduire un arc-en-ciel de couleurs PANTONE® avec une précision stupéfiante. Ce guide présente le meilleur des meilleurs.

Laissez la presse faire le travail pour vous !

Après avoir chargé le RoseF et activé le mode CMYK+, l'extension du gamut sur la presse* évalue automatiquement les couleurs d'accompagnement PANTONE® de votre fichier, puis applique les couleurs gérées RoseF pour imprimer avec une correspondance parfaite des couleurs. Tant que les couleurs PANTONE® sont réglées sur « accompagnement », tout ce que l'opérateur de la presse doit faire est de charger le RoseF et de lancer la fonction d'extension du gamut ; la presse fera le reste !

Autrement, vous pouvez le faire vous-même avec Adobe® InDesign.

Disposez-vous du RoseF mais pas de la fonction d'extension du gamut automatique sur la presse ? La création de vos propres nuanciers PANTONE® à l'aide des nuanciers Adobe® InDesign® est une excellente alternative à l'activation des avantages du RoseF.

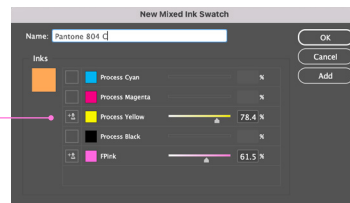

- 1 Créez une couleur d'accompagnement Rose fluorescent comme illustré ci-dessous et nommez-la « RoseF » :

CO M3725
30156 ND

CO M0
272-63 ND
R95157

- 3 Repérez le mélange de couleurs sous votre nuancier imprimé préféré. Saisissez les valeurs du CMYK et du RoseF pour créer votre nuancier de tons mixtes rose fluorescent.

- 2 Allez jusqu'à New Mixed Ink Swatch (Nouveau nuancier d'encre mixte) dans votre palette de nuanciers.

*L'extension du gamut automatisée sur la presse est disponible sur les presses de production Iridesse équipées d'un serveur d'impression Xerox® EX-P 6 (v4.0).

Amplifiez l'effet de stupéfaction.

Outre des graphiques, des illustrations et des typographies de niveau supérieur, les échantillons de ce guide peuvent être combinés en dégradés réellement uniques. Voici quelques exemples pour stimuler votre créativité :

PANTONE 2015 : C0 M3,92 J29,80 N0

PANTONE 3596 : C0 M12,55 J41,96 N7,06

Faites-le vous-même dans Adobe® Illustrator :

Illustrator ne prend pas en charge les échantillons de toner mixtes. Les couleurs mélangées doivent donc être créées manuellement en multipliant deux couches. Ce nuancier fournit les mélanges exacts dont vous aurez besoin. Chaque page échantillon suit la même mise en page :

Pour créer des couleurs mélangées dans Illustrator :

- 1 Créez une couleur d'accompagnement Rose fluorescent comme illustré ci-dessous et nommez-la « RoseF » :
- 2 Localisez votre échantillon préféré. Recréez son apparence en multipliant ses teintes C, M et/ou J sur un fond de RoseF :

Imprimez-le vous-même : Pour présenter les avantages de l'extension du gamut automatisée sur la presse, imprimez ce nuancier sur une presse de production Iridesse dotée d'un serveur d'impression EX-P 6 v4.0 ou d'une version supérieure.

Reproduisez les couleurs d'une grande marque.

L'extension du gamut vous permet de reproduire certaines des couleurs les plus reconnues au monde !
